STRANGE THINGS AFOOT AT CAMP KOH

Camp KOH counselors (and even the less-well-liked staff members) have been hearing some concerns from our campers about strange phenomena afoot near the cabins and around the greater campgrounds this week.

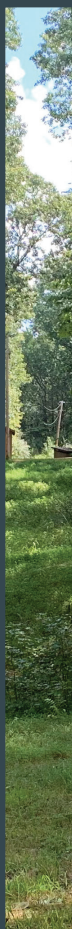

KMK Enterprises and all at Camp KOH want to reassure the campers that everything is safe and our researchers will look into every claim and concern. This cannot be stated explicitly enough:

DO NOT INVESTIGATE ON YOUR OWN!

The KMK research team, led by your Special Activities Coordinator and Camp Phenomenologist, will be on site for the remainder of camp. Please do not disturb their work.

Oh! And before you start spilling your pathetic life stories, adolescent angst, and wet-diaper woes to our highly paid researchers, let us relay the following:

All concerns should go through your trusted counselors for now and will be collected by form at the end of camp.

CAMP RUMORS THUS FAR

This alert will capture six collections of concerns and rumors that have so far reached the ~~paranormal~~ research team. science

1. "DANGER" AT THE LAKE

It has been reported that some campers took a night swim in the lake earlier this week. Some of those campers may or may not have noticed changes in their skin and some temporary bioluminescence after coming in contact with a sludge or milky fluid floating on the surface. Be not alarmed. The lake is safe.

That said, with the continued reports coming in of missing fish and waterfowl, please stay out of the lake while the research team investigates.

2. MINE OFF-LIMITS

Please stop asking about the mine. It is closed. Camp records are incomplete, and KMK Enterprises engineers have not finished investigating the area since opening the campgrounds earlier this year.

If you hear any machinery sounds coming from the foothills on the other side of the forest, just ignore them.

© Any strange minerals found at camp should be turned in

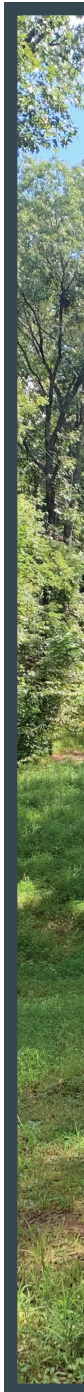

3. PRODUCT PLACEMENT

KMK Enterprises denies any and all claims that camp staff have been encouraged to push a non-FDA-approved sports beverage on campers. If campers enjoy the sweet, fruit-like taste of a refreshing beverage that also happens to replenish electrolytes and boost performance in athletic domains, who are we to stop them?

© It isn't like the drink has any known side-effects

© Do not feed to animals!

4. ANIMAL SHELL/HUSK

The research team has been made aware of a strange, six-legged animal carcass found on the campgrounds. ~~No, this is not a cryptid.~~ Experts on site have identified the specimen as a new phenotype of opposum.

If you discover anything similar—especially near the parking lots or mess hall—report it to a counselor immediately (not Bruce, obviously).

- © Please report any strange behavior from people in contact with pods

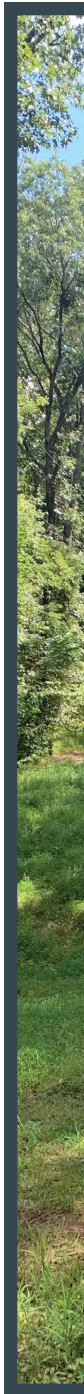

5. HIGH-LIFE HISTORY

It has become known to KMK executives that our mouthy counselors have been spreading rumors about previous management at Camp KOH.

Please disregard the petty gossip spouted by any loose-lipped counselors. While the Glamtrods' whereabouts are unknown to both KMK Human Resources and state law-enforcement agencies, this alert serves as a reminder that all employees of KMK Enterprises have a court-ordered injunction not to speak about ongoing litigation regarding the Glamtrods.

- © Do not engage in legally prohibited gossip around camp
- © If any information regarding the current whereabouts of the Glamtrods is discovered, please report ASAP

6. VIDEO GAMES AT CAMP

No video games allowed at camp? Correct. Crying about it? Boo hoo! Deal with it. This policy comes directly from KMK Operations offices.

- © Video games lead to obsessions that can take over the mind
- © Be sure to snitch on any camper you see with a video game
